

LAST NIGHT'S MURDER SCENE

A CIB scientific branch expert takes blood samples at the scene of last night's murder in the city.

THIS is where a man died on Perth's streets last night — the victim of a knife attack.

Early today CIB detectives were conducting a shop-by-shop search of buildings in the near vicinity, including the 100-room Wesfarmers building in Wellington Street.

Police early this morning issued the following description of the wanted man: Age about 19, white male, Australian, 5ft 9in, shoulder-length brown hair, blue jeans, white running shoes and green shirt over a white T shirt.

Consistent warnings were issued that the man wanted was armed and dangerous. He was to be approached with caution.

Police also checked all Perth taxi companies and the main railway station.

More than two hours after the stabbing, they were still scouring the area.
